

Logic Building Assignment

1. Write java program to accept file name from user and open that file.
2. Write java program to accept file name from user and open that file and display the contents on screen.
3. Write java program to accept file name from user and open that file in write mode and write some data at the end of file.
4. Write java program to accept file name from user and create new file of that name if it is not existing.
5. Write java program to accept directory name from user and display all names of files from that directory.

