

Logic Building Assignment

1. Write java program to accept two file names from user and open first file and create new file (Second name) and copy the data from first file into newly created file.
 2. Write java program to accept file name from user and check whether that file is regular file or not..
 3. Write java program to accept directory name from user and create that directory.
 4. Write java program to accept file name from user calculate checksum of that file and display on screen.
 5. Write java program to accept directory name from user and display all names of files from that directory and size of each file on screen.
- 