

Logic Building Assignment

1. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name from user and calculate total size of all files from that directory.
2. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name from user and display the name of the largest file (by size).
3. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name from user and display the name of the smallest file (by size).
4. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name and file extension from user and display only files having that extension.
5. Write a program in Java which accepts a path from user and display whether it exists or not. If it exists, display whether it is a file or directory.

