

Logic Building Assignment

1. Write java program to accept directory name from user and display all names of files from that directory which are regular file.
 2. Write java program to accept directory name from user and write names of all files from that directory into one newly created file named as "Marvellous.txt".
 3. Write java program to accept directory name from user and write data of all files into one newly created file named as "Marvellous.txt".
 4. Write java program to accept directory name from user and write data of all files along with its name into one newly created file named as "Marvellous.txt".
 5. Write java program to accept directory name from user and write data of all files along with its name & size of each file into one newly created file named as "Marvellous.txt".
- 