

Logic Building Assignment

1. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name from user and display names of all files from that directory.
2. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name from user and display only regular files (ignore directories).
3. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name from user and display only sub-directories from that directory.
4. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name from user and display count of total files and total folders.
5. Write a program in Java which accepts a directory name from user and display file name along with its absolute path.

