

Logic Building Assignment

1. Write a program in Java which accepts source file name and destination file name from user and copy data from source to destination (byte by byte).
2. Write a program in Java which accepts source file name and destination file name from user and copy data using `byte[ ]` buffer.
3. Write a program in Java which accepts file name and one string from user and append that string at the end of file.
4. Write a program in Java which accepts two input file names and one output file name and merge both files into the output file.
5. Write a program in Java which accepts file name from user and split that file into two separate files (first half and second half).

